LETTER OF TRANSMISSION

To His Excellency,

O. MAX GARDNER,

Governor of North Carolina.

SIR:—In compliance with Chapter 714 of the Public Laws of 1907, I have the honor to submit herewith for your Excellency's consideration the Biennial Report of the North Carolina Historical Commission for July 1, 1928-June 30, 1930.

Respectfully,

THOMAS M. PITTMAN,

Chairman.

RALEIGH, N. C., JULY 1, 1930.

BIENNIAL REPORT OF THE SECRETARY

OF THE

North Carolina Historical Commission

JULY 1, 1928, TO JUNE 30, 1930

To Thomas M. Pittman, Chairman, and M. C. S. Noble, Heriot Clarkson, Mrs. Thomas O'Berry, and Miss Nell Battle Lewis, Commissioners:

I have the honor to submit the following report of the North Carolina Historical Commission for the period, July 1, 1928-June 30, 1930:

ORGANIZATION

I. The Historical Commission.

On April 9, 1929, Governor O. Max Gardner re-appointed Justice Heriot Clarkson as Commissioner for the term April 1, 1929-March 31, 1935. On the same date he appointed Miss Nell Battle Lewis for the same term, succeeding Mr. Ben Dixon McNeill. No other changes have occurred in the personnel or officers of the Commission.

II. Office Force.

In addition to the accessions listed above, a considerable quantity of state and county records has been collected whose arrangement and accession has been impossible in time to be included in this report.

DIVISION OF DOCUMENTS

I. CLASSIFICATION AND ARRANGEMENT.

All of the accessions listed above have been classified, arranged, and filed during the biennium. The extent of this work may be indicated approximately as follows:

Personal Collections—4 volumes, 3,657 letters and numerous pamphlets.
Records of organizations—29 volumes and approximately 7,500 documents.
County Records—614 volumes and 5,000 documents.
State archives—189 volumes and 6,000 documents.
Maps—52 maps.
English Records—3,042 pages.
Photostats and copies—1,045 documents and items.
Miscellaneous—Approximately 250 items.
Newspapers—3,617 newly acquired issues. In addition, Mr. D. L. Corbitt has rearranged and refiled the entire newspaper collection.

New filing cases, expanding the available filing facilities approximately 50%, have been installed and filled during the biennium. Also, a large steel map-filing case has been installed and filled.

II. CATALOGUING.

All accessions during the biennium have been labelled and catalogued. The entire collection of North Carolina newspapers and the collection of transcripts from the British archives have been re-arranged, filed, and catalogued. Mr. D. L. Corbitt, who is in charge of the cataloguing, has completed a check-list of all North Carolina newspapers through 1876 in the Historical Commission, State Library, Salem Archives, and at Asheville, and of about half the collection at Duke University. The object in view is the ultimate compilation and publication of a complete check-list and bibliography of North Carolina newspaper files through 1876 in all of the more important collections within and outside the State. Such a publication will be of great value to research in North Carolina history.

III. REPAIR.

The Restorer of Manuscripts has mounted 5,222 sheets of manuscript for binding. In case of some manuscripts, more than one repair process was necessary. Of the manuscripts mounted, 3,661 were patched with paper, 3,288 were covered with crepeline or paper, and 246 were backed with paper. Sixty-seven volumes of mounted manuscripts were bound, and mounted manuscripts sufficient for seventeen volumes are now ready for binding.

During the biennium, the entire collection of maps has been examined and put in good condition for preservation and filing. In all, 562 maps (duplicates and fragments) were repaired. Fourteen were pressed smooth; 161, backed with cloth or paper; 6, covered with crepeline; 180, patched with paper; 325, cleaned; 126, cut and hinged; 94, edged with tape; 18, traced from originals which could not be repaired or restored satisfactorily. These maps are now filed in good condition in newly-installed map cases.

IV. BINDING.

Ninety-seven volumes were bound during the period of this report. Sixty-seven of these are mounted manuscripts handsomely bound in leather and thirty are of publications of the Historical Commission bound in buckram:

Governors' Papers, State Series, Richard Dobbs Spaight, 1835-36. 3 vols.

Governors' Papers, State Series, Edward Bishop Dudley, 1837-39. 14 vols.

Bute County Records, Wills and Inventories, 1760-1800. 3 vols.

Carteret County Records, Vestry Book of St. John's Parish, 1742-1843. 3 vols.
Craven County Records, Wills, 1755-1864. 7 vols.
Gates County Records, Wills, 1762-1805. 2 vols.
Orange County Records, Wills, 1753-1819. 4 vols.
Robeson County Records, Wills, 1783-1851. 4 vols.
Rowan County Records, Wills, 1743-1868. 24 vols.
Tyrrell County Records, Wills, 1744-1836. 3 vols.
The North Carolina Historical Review, V, 15 vols.
The North Carolina Historical Review, VI, 15 vols.

V. USE OF RECORDS.

During the period of this report, 2,859 visits have been made to the offices of the Historical Commission for the purpose of consulting manuscript records of North Carolina history. Of these, more than 700 were made by persons living in Tennessee, Mississippi, Florida, South Carolina, Virginia, Illinois, District of Columbia, Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Missouri, Texas, New York, New Jersey, Arkansas, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Colorado, Minnesota, Michigan, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Iowa, California, New Mexico, Connecticut, Montana, Arizona, West Virginia, Oklahoma, Wisconsin, Cuba, Japan, Canada, Czecho-Slovakia and Scotland; and 392 by 83 graduate students, historians, and others in search of new information on phases of North Carolina, southern and national history for use in historical articles and monographs. Professors, graduate students and fellows from Yale University, the University of Alabama, the University of Pennsylvania, the University of Southern California, the University of Texas, Princeton, the University of North Carolina, Duke University, Wake Forest College, Elon College, Catawba College, North Carolina State College, Wofford College, Furman University, and other institutions spent considerable time in collecting unpublished North Carolina historical data for use in books, some of which have already been published.

Requests for information, reaching into the hundreds, and coming from all parts of the United States and from foreign countries, have received the attention of the office force. Research necessary for the replies has been done by members of the staff, in case of historical inquiries; and by private researchers to whom the inquiries were referred, if of a private or genealogical nature. A total of 1,069 certified copies from the manuscript records of the Commission were prepared and furnished without charge to North Carolinians and outsiders interested in North Carolina history. Of these, 321 were supplied to North Carolinians and 748 to persons outside the State, as follows: Tennessee, 151; Georgia, 93; Louisiana, 63; Alabama, 37; Texas, 37; District of Columbia, 36; Illinois, 31; New York, 30; Virginia, 28; Indiana, 25; Kansas, 23; Florida, 22; South Carolina, 18; Arkansas, 18; Missouri, 18; Iowa, 16; Mississippi, 14; California, 14; Maryland, 10; Oklahoma, 7; Massachusetts, 7; Kentucky, 6; Michigan, 6; Colorado, 6; Washington, 6; South Dakota, 6; Ohio, 4; Utah, 4; Oregon, 2; Wisconsin, 2; Delaware, 2; West Virginia, 2; New Jersey, 2; Nebraska, 1; Idaho, 1.

The extensive use of the records, particularly by trained students and professional historians, will be productive of a more intensive and extensive knowledge of the history of the State, not only by North Carolinians but by the general reading public. The number of graduate history students at higher institutions in the State, particularly the University of North Carolina and Duke University, has been larger than ever before; and consequently their use of the records of the Commission has been on the increase.

PUBLICATIONS

I. Issued During the Biennium.

1. Bulletin No. 34. Twelfth Biennial Report of the North Carolina Historical Commission, December 1, 1926-June 30, 1928. (Raleigh. 1927. Paper. Pp. 32.)

2. North Carolina Manual, 1929. Compiled and edited by A. R. Newsome. (Raleigh. 1929. Cloth. Pp. 618.) The Manual issued biennially, contains accounts of the creation, personnel powers, and duties of the state departments, commissions, boards, and institutions; the state and federal constitutions; election and census returns; platforms of political parties; biographical sketches of state officials and members of the 1929 General Assembly; and other historical and statistical information about the State.

3. William Byrd's Histories of the Dividing Line Betwixt Virginia and North Carolina. With introduction and notes by William K. Boyd, Ph.D., Professor of History, Duke University. (Raleigh. 1929. Cloth. Pp. xxvii, 341.) This volume contains the hitherto unpublished The Secret History of the Line, printed in parallel with Byrd's well known History of the Dividing Line Betwixt Virginia and North Carolina. The reprint is more fully annotated than any preceding edition. The Secret History varies considerably from the History of the Dividing Line and contains much new information, and the whole is preceded by an account of the boundary controversy.

4. The Papers of Randolph Abbott Shotwell. Edited by J. G. deRoulhac Hamilton, with the collaboration of Rebecca Cameron. Volume I. (Raleigh. 1929. Cloth. Pp. xxv, 511.) Shotwell's account, based on his war diary, of his personal experiences as a soldier in the Confederate army from the beginning of the war to Gettysburg.

5. The North Carolina Historical Review. Volumes V, Nos. 3-4; VI; VII, Nos. 1-2. (Raleigh. 1928-30. Paper. Pp. 238; 480; 303.) Each issue of this quarterly magazine devoted to North Carolina history contains three articles, documentary material, historical notes, book reviews, and historical news.

II. In Press.

1. Records of the Moravians in North Carolina. Edited by Adelaide L. Fries. Volume IV.
2. The Papers of Randolph Abbott Shotwell. Edited by J. G. deR. Hamilton. Volume II.

III. IN PREPARATION.

1. North Carolina Manual, 1931.
2. J. G. deR. Hamilton is editing the remainder of the papers of Randolph Abbott Shotwell.
3. M. C. S. Noble is editing a documentary history of Public Education in North Carolina since 1840.
4. Correspondence and Papers of the Governors of North Carolina. Volume I.

HISTORICAL MARKERS

During the period of this report, the Historical Commission has rendered aid in the erection of several historical markers and financial assistance in the following cases:

1. A bronze tablet to Willie P. Mangum (1792-1861), for seventeen years a member of the United States Senate from North Carolina and for three years its president. Erected by the Historical Commission in coöperation with the Durham-Orange Historical Commission and unveiled April 5, 1929, on the Durham-Roxboro highway about 12 miles north of Durham near Mangum's birthplace and grave.
2. A bronze tablet in Halifax at the home of William R. Davie (1756-1820), Revolutionary soldier, delegate to the Federal Convention of 1787, Grand Master of Masons, a founder of the University, governor, and minister to France. Erected by the Historical Commission in coöperation with Grades 6-7, Halifax Rural Schools, and unveiled May 3, 1929.
3. A massive bronze tablet on State Highway No. 10, near Trading Ford where General Nathanael Greene crossed the Yadkin River, February 2-3, 1781, in his masterly retreat from the British under Lord Cornwallis. The tablet is attached to a granite monolith ten feet high and six feet wide, within a walled and turfed plot ten feet square. The Tallassee Power Company donated a triangular plot containing one and one-tenth acres, with five hundred forty-two feet frontage along the highway. The marker was erected by the Historical Commission and citizens of Davidson County, and unveiled October 19, 1929.
4. A bronze tablet to Brigadier General Junius Daniel, C. S. A., who was mortally wounded at Spottsylvania Court House. The tablet was erected on the Court House square at Halifax by the Historical Commission and the Halifax Chapter, U. D. C., and was unveiled November 15, 1929. General Daniel was born and buried in Halifax.

STIMULATION OF HISTORICAL INTEREST AND INVESTIGATION

One of the duties of the Commission is to stimulate historical interest and investigation. Through its documentary publications, placed in the chief research centers in North Carolina and the other states, and its large collection of manuscripts conveniently arranged and filed for use, the Commission has stimulated and assisted the research of numerous students and historians. Ample proof of this is the ever-increasing volume of books which acknowledge their indebtedness to the Commission.

Cordial relations and coöperation with the patriotic, educational and historical organizations have been preserved and extended. Assistance and encouragement have been given to the county historians, several of whom have published much local history in newspapers and pamphlets. Public school teachers and students have been assisted by the distribution of bulletins and assembled information and by lectures in the Hall of History and in the schools.

HALL OF HISTORY

The Historical Commission, at a meeting on June 12, 1930, voted to recognize the important contributions of W. J. Peele and Fred A. Olds to historical activity in the State by naming the eastern hall of history, in which are hung only portraits of North Carolinians, the W. J. Peele Hall of History, and the western hall, containing historical relics and paintings, the Fred A. Olds Historical Museum.

Particularly valuable additions to the Hall of History during the biennium have been the portrait of Lieutenant-General D. H. Hill, C. S. A., by William Steene, presented by the children of General Hill; the portrait of Governor James Iredell, loaned by Iredell Meares and Mrs. William Latimer, Wilmington; and a large historical painting, "The Baptism of Virginia Dare," by William Steene, presented by the North Carolina Society of Colonial Dames of America.

I transmit herewith the report of Fred A. Olds, Collector, for the period July 1, 1928-June 30, 1930:

Raleigh, N. C., July 1, 1930.

DR. A. R. NEWSOME, Secretary,
North Carolina Historical Commission,
Raleigh, N. C.

Dear Sir:

The past twenty-four months have been busy ones for the Hall of History and for your Collector in his work in various counties for the Archives section of the Historical Commission.

From Ashe County the county court minutes between 1807 and 1848 were brought in, also grants, deeds and land entries, 1813-1857; from Wilkes, original wills and inventories of estates up to 1825, original deed books to 1868 (except six letters in the alphabet); from Edgecombe, original wills, 1759-1830, records of the public schools, 1846-1867 and 1883-1888; from Mecklenburg, original wills and inventories of estates and guardian's bonds, 1763-1832, county court minutes, 1785-1857 (the volumes 1763-1785 and 1857-1868 missing); from Rutherford, original wills, 1784-1832, and original land entry books, 1783-1826; from Onslow, 160 marriage bonds; from Surry, original wills and inventories and miscellaneous court papers up to 1800; from Guilford, county court minutes, 1781-1865, records of the state militia from Guilford, 1805-1855; from Warren, original wills, 1800-1825; from Bute, county court records, 1768-1777, original will books, deed books and inventories of estates, 1764-1767; from Franklin, original wills and inventories, 1794-1846, militia courts-martial, 1820-1845, negro cohabitation records, 1866, county school records, 1841-1865, county court records, 1785-1818, and state trial docket, 1786-1794; from Nash, original wills, 1778-1860, county court minutes, 1789-1792, court dockets, 1779-1802, county ranger book, 1817-1820, guardian's book, 1826-1835, and marriage licenses to 1868; from Cumberland County, original wills to 1830; from

Robeson County, original wills to 1830, county court minutes, 1797-1868, lists of taxables by districts, 1837-1845, original deed books, 1791-1818; from New Hanover County, original wills to 1832; from Johnston County, 123 original wills between 1759 and 1830; from Iredell County, minutes of county court, 1807-1868, militia records, 1809-1858; from Rowan County, 100 marriage bonds, 1759-87; and from Burke County, marriage bonds, and early deeds.

Other accessions to the collection in the Hall of History, which has now increased to over 18,000 objects, are: last photograph of Gov. T. W. Bickett, from his wife; five prints of engravings of the Civil War period, presented by R. F. Smith, of Montreal, Canada; trial papers in the case of a negro burned at the stake in Johnston County, 1773, from Mrs. T. J. Lassiter, Smithfield; photograph of the memorial marker to President Andrew Johnson, at Raleigh, erected by the tailors of the United States very near the site of his birthplace house (now in Pullen Park, half a mile westward); photographs of the memorial gateway at the grave of General James Johnston Pettigrew, at his home in Tyrrell County; photograph of the memorial at the "Tory Hole," at Elizabethtown, Bladen County, from Fred A. Olds; engravings of Sir Francis Drake and the Earl of Northampton, from Alexander Boyd Andrews, Raleigh; piece of weatherboarding from the tailor shop of President Andrew Johnson at Greenville, Tennessee; porcelain flask from the U. S. fleet at Hampton Roads, Virginia, 1862, found by private Robert Clendenning, of the 8th Regiment, N. C. State Troops, C. S. A., killed in 1862 in battle, presented by Mrs. Lettie McCorkle, of Burlington; three photographs of the Elisha Mitchell monument, on Mount Mitchell; chest of surgical instruments used in the Civil War, from Dr. Thomas A. Norment, of Lumberton; sword, sash, and epaulettes of Major Richard H. Gatlin, 7th Regiment, U. S. Army, in the War with Mexico (1846-48), from Mrs. Collier Cobb, of Chapel Hill; a section of a great pine tree on the boundary line between S. C. and N. C., also three photographs of it when the survey was completed in 1928, presented by George F. Syme, of the N. C. Highway Commission; gauntlet of Major General James G. Martin, Confederate States Army, from his great-grandson, John Read Holman, of Asheville; photograph of Orville Wright at the Kitty Hawk Memorial ceremonies, marking the first airplane flight, presented by Adolph S. Ochs of the New York Times; brownstone from the main building at the U. S. Arsenal at Fayetteville, burned in March, 1865, by Gen. Sherman's troops, from E. R. McKeithan; silhouette of Hon. John D. Hawkins, of N. C.; color portrait of Lord Robert Bertie, for whose grandfather Bertie County was named, from Dr. Charles Lee Smith of Raleigh; razor of "Stonewall" Jackson, from Mrs. George J. Ramsey, Raleigh; pen and ink drawing of the U. S. military prison on Johnson's Island, from the family of Colonel Thomas S. Kenan, a prisoner there.

North Carolina Almanacs (forty-seven) between 1845 and 1903, from B. C. Beckwith, of Raleigh; also from him the original minutes of the Johnston County secession convention, December, 1860; paraffin lamp, 1810, from Sam Haywood, Raleigh; photograph of U. S. Vice-President William Rufus King, of Clinton, N. C.; tailor's goose (pressing iron) used by President Andrew Johnson in a tailor's shop in Raleigh; several large photographs of the North Carolina Memorial (costing $50,000) to her soldiers in the battle of Gettysburg, Pa.

Oil portrait of Lieutenant General Daniel Harvey Hill, from Miss Nancy Hill, Raleigh, for his family; oil portrait of Governor James Iredell, from Mrs. William Latimer, of Wilmington, his daughter; oil portrait of Dr. Edmund Burke Haywood, of Raleigh, Confederate surgeon, from his son, Ernest Haywood, of Raleigh; shoe of Peter Francisco, Revolutionary soldier, who killed seven British soldiers, from his descendants, the Peter Francisco Pescud family, of Raleigh; photograph (1884) of Gov. Alfred Moore Scales, Lieutenant Governor Charles Manly Stedman and staff, in camp at Wrightsville, from Fred A. Olds; painting, the "Baptism of Virginia Dare," August 20, 1587, on Roanoke Island, from the North Carolina Society of Colonial Dames; three engravings of Hon. John Wilkes, for whom Wilkes County was named, from James Gilliam, of London (one sent as a gift to Wilkes County Court House); Scotch-Huguenot pocketbook, brought here in 1680 by the Darden family, from Fred A. May, of Sanford; autograph album of Capt. L. L. Clements, C. S. A., of Williamston, Martin County, with autographs of his fellow prisoners in Fort Warren, Boston Harbor, in 1861, from his daughter, Mrs. Bettie Simpson of Williamston, N. C.; a letter dated at Digby, Nova Scotia, May, 1822, signed by the Tory, David Fanning, born in Johnston County, in which he refuses to sell his Narrative of his life here during that war to anyone, because it would operate against his "coming back to North Carolina to look after his property"; and a complete set of photographs of the North Carolina members of the Confederate Congress, 27 in number, presented by Zeb Vance Walser, Lexington.

There have been some new features in connection with the Hall of History since the last report. One is a great increase in the number of winter tourists in Raleigh from other States, particularly from the far north and Canada. A special feature last year was the presence of a considerable group from England, which was given a special reception in the Hall of History. These visitors expressed special pleasure in seeing here the first British colony settled in America.

The attendance of visiting public school teachers and pupils from all parts of this State has much exceeded any previous record and represented all the hundred counties. Nearly 300 schools made visits in school busses. One large county, Guilford, used a special train of 16 cars. In all, over 26,000 school representatives were here during the two-year period.

A number of magazines of great circulation have published special articles in high praise of the Hall of History, declaring it to be the best in all the South, this information being specially addressed to tourists to this section.

Respectfully submitted,
FRED A. OLDS,
Collector, Hall of History.

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE LIBRARY

The work of the Legislative Reference Library for the period of this report is set forth in the following report of Mr. Henry M. London, Legislative Reference Librarian:

Raleigh, N. C., July 1, 1930.

DR. A. R. NEWSOME, Secretary,
North Carolina Historical Commission,
Raleigh, North Carolina.

Dear Sir:

I beg to submit herewith a report of the work of the Legislative Reference Library from July 1, 1928, to June 30, 1930.

During the foregoing period the following publications have been prepared and distributed among state and county officials and a large number of interested citizens throughout the State:

1. A booklet of 40 pages containing the official vote of the November, 1928, election by counties, for Governor and other state officers, President and Representatives in Congress, Constitutional amendments and also the vote at the Primary, June 2, 1928, together with a list of members of the General Assembly of 1929.

2. In January, 1929, a Directory of State and County Officials containing 82 pages was compiled and published. The almost daily demand for this booklet is full evidence of its usefulness.

3. Bulletin No. 8, 44 pages, containing amendments to the Consolidated Statutes enacted at the 1929 session of the General Assembly. The chapters which, in terms or in effect, amend certain chapters, sections, or sub-sections of the Consolidated Statutes have been brought forward in this bulletin and arranged according to the section number of the Consolidated Statutes. In each case the chapter number is given so that reference may be made to the session laws. These amendments have been printed so that they may be clipped and pasted in the Consolidated Statutes or the bulletin may be used as a supplement in its present form.

4. In June, 1929, a Court Calendar covering the biennium, July 1, 1929, to June 30, 1931, was prepared and published and distributed to court officials, practicing attorneys and others interested. This publication has long been regarded as indispensable by judges, solicitors, and lawyers in keeping up with the changes in the terms of court made at each session of the legislature.

In addition to the above publications, much other material has been compiled for various state departments. Through the State Board of Elections there was printed, in 1929, a compilation of the Election Laws of North Carolina, including the new Australian Ballot Law, containing 66 pages; also a compilation and digest of the several constitutional amendments voted on in November, 1929, was prepared for the State Board of Elections,

1. Relative to increase of pay of legislators;
2. Creation of solicitorial districts;
3. Classification of intangibles for taxation.

This digest was printed and distributed generally so that the voters were fully informed as to the proposed amendments.

A number of other matters of a legislative nature have been compiled for municipalities and persons throughout the State.

During the 1929 session of the General Assembly, 650 bills were drafted for legislators and much assistance rendered them in securing information desired on various matters of proposed legislation. This form of service is being appreciated more and more at each session of the Legislature.

Following the State Primary held June 7, 1930, a list of legislative nominees of the two parties was compiled and published.

After each November election a list of the newly-elected members of the General Assembly is printed.

Respectfully submitted,
HENRY M. LONDON,
Legislative Reference Librarian.

FINANCES

The expenditures of the Historical Commission are made from legislative appropriations as allotted quarterly by the Budget Bureau. Expenditures during each year of the biennium were less than the appropriation. A cut of more than 10% in the appropriation for 1929-30 was made by the Budget Bureau. The following classified table shows the appropriations and expenditures for each year of the biennium:

	1928-1929		1929-1930
	Appropriation	Expenditure	Appropriation	Expenditure

RECOMMENDATIONS

I. ADDITIONAL ROOM FOR FILING MANUSCRIPTS.

The most pressing need of the Historical Commission is enlarged filing facilities. All available floor space in the manuscript room, constructed 16 years ago, has been utilized; and there is no available filing space for many arranged and unarranged records already on hand. The acquisition of much new material is being delayed by the present inadequate facilities. Such congestion promotes confusion, inconvenience, and inefficient service and threatens paralysis in the basic activity of collection of records.

Temporary relief may be obtained by the installation and equipment, as early as possible, of a gallery or second-level in the manuscript room. The General Assembly of 1931 will be asked to provide this expansion of filing facilities, which is absolutely essential to the efficient operation as well as the growth of the Historical Commission.

Within a very few years, the present quarters of the Historical Commission will be inadequate. Already the overcrowded Hall of History is unable to display its large and useful collection of objects. The manuscript room, with the new gallery installed, will be filled quickly with the accumulation of material on hand and with new collections. Moreover, many valuable records are in confusion, danger, and disuse in state offices, county court houses, and private homes throughout the State. The North Carolina Historical Commission, whose duty as prescribed by law is to collect historical manuscripts from individuals and organizations, as well as local and state archives, should be provided with facilities for the proper concentration and care of all State archives, of all county archives whose transfer by local authorities may be obtained, and of all obtainable diaries, letters, newspapers, account books, and manuscript records in private possession. To fulfill this rôle in a manner commensurate with the importance of the task will require several times as much filing space as is available or can be made available in the present quarters. Moreover, there is developing a congestion of state offices in Raleigh which can be relieved only by a new state building as soon as the condition of state finances will permit its construction.

With eminent fitness, convenience, and usefulness, the next administration building which the State constructs might be made to express in stone the historical, literary, and cultural activities and aspirations of the State. It might properly house several or all of the following agencies: the Historical Commission, with the state and local archives and historical collections which make it the focus of research in North Carolina history; the Hall of History, with its notable collection of relics, war exhibits, and portraits, to which thousands of public school students, citizens, and tourists come for entertainment and instruction each year; the Legislative Reference Library, whose activities are so useful to the legislature and lawyers of the State; the State Library of reference books; the Library Commission with its circulating library and its organized promotion of the public library movement; and a State Art Museum. An assembly room might be provided for meetings of the State Literary and Historical Association, the Art Society, the American Legion and other veterans' organizations, the various patriotic societies, and other meetings of an historical, literary, artistic, patriotic, and cultural nature. The State, which has never memorialized any except the Civil War, might dedicate this utilitarian temple of culture as a memorial to her sons in the World War and all previous wars. The General Assembly of 1919 created a Memorial Building Commission to erect such a building, but nothing was done. Other states have erected and are erecting handsome memorial edifices. The building should perhaps be located prominently near Capitol Square and should be of a size and quality to reflect credit not only on present North Carolina but on North Carolina of the future. It is poor economy not to anticipate future needs in the expenditure of money for permanent improvements in a state so rapidly growing as North Carolina. Such a building with its contents would be of untold practical, historical, educational, and cultural value, and would stand forth to the world as an inspiring manifestation of the State's pride in her past and confidence in her future.

II. More Extensive Publication of Documentary Material.

The 26-volume series of Colonial and State Records of North Carolina (1886-1905), edited by W. L. Saunders and Walter Clark—the most notable publication project in the history of the State and one of the best of its kind in the United States, made possible the writing of North Carolina history before 1790, won increased recognition for North Carolina in the general histories of the nation, and has yielded rich dividends in historical knowledge, education, patriotism, and good citizenship. The chief historical need of North Carolina and the most important service which the Historical Commission can render is the more extensive publication of documentary sources of state history, especially for the period after 1790. Documents stored in archives are accessible only to the relatively few students who visit the collection; when published, they are immediately and simultaneously accessible to the entire group of historians, in whose articles, monographs, and textbooks the newly-revealed facts of state history become available to the general public and the public schools. Moreover, the historical value of documentary volumes does not decrease with the passage of time. Though the Commission has published more than a score of valuable volumes, it is a striking fact that the sum total of historical documents published by the State from 1886 to 1905 far exceeded that for the period of remarkable economic development since 1905.

The State can minister no more effectively to the promotion and dissemination of historical interest and knowledge than by allowing the Historical Commission to expand and quicken its publication program, which comprises a series of volumes of the official correspondence and papers of the governors from the earliest times; supplementary volumes to the Colonial and State Records containing the material in the British archives, recently transcribed, which was not included in the published series; personal collections of notable public men, such as Willie P. Mangum and Zebulon B. Vance, and other important projects.

SUMMARY

A summary of the work of the Historical Commission for the biennium ending June 30, 1930, shows that

1. 655 volumes and more than 5,000 documents were collected, catalogued, and filed in the collection of County Records.
2. 189 volumes and approximately 6,000 letters and documents were added to the collection of State Archives.
3. 4 collections of personal papers received additions of 157 letters, and 13 new collections of personal papers, comprising 4 volumes and approximately 3,500 letters, were secured.
4. 52 maps (originals and photostats) were secured.
5. The records of three organizations were obtained.
6. 3,042 pages of photostats and transcripts of North Carolina material in the archives of England; photostats of 317 letters and documents in the Draper MSS.; photostats of 159 letters and documents in the Historical Society of Pennsylvania; and 569 pages of North Carolina items in early New England and West Indian newspapers were secured.
7. 2 diaries, 18 account books, and more than 50 pamphlets were collected.
8. More than 3,600 issues of 85 different North Carolina newspapers were added to the newspaper files.
9. 5,222 manuscripts and 562 maps were scientifically treated for preservation.
10. 67 volumes of manuscripts were bound.
11. 3 volumes, 1 bulletin, and 8 issues of the North Carolina Historical Review were published.
12. 4 historical markers were erected.
13. A manuscript collection containing 2,500 volumes and more than 750,000 unbound documents was administered and kept at the service of the public. Approximately 2,900 visits were made to consult the records—700 by non-residents of the State and 393 by historians and graduate students. More than 1,000 certified copies of records were made, two-thirds of which were for people living outside the State.
14. 26,000 North Carolina school children and many citizens of this and other States visited the Hall of History.
15. Historical lectures were delivered in various parts of the State.
16. The Legislative Reference Library issued four publications and drafted 650 bills for members of the Legislature.
